Gospel Reading—Sunday, June 21, 2026

Matthew 10:26-33

Jesus assures the Twelve that God cares about them.

We read today's Gospel in the context of last week's Gospel in which Jesus sent the twelve disciples to proclaim the kingdom of heaven. In between last week's reading and today's reading, Jesus has predicted that the disciples will face difficulties in their mission. Many people will not receive them well, even within the land of Israel. Even family members will turn away from the disciples because of the disciples' commitment to Jesus and the kingdom.

Today's Gospel offers the disciples consolation against this difficult truth. This section of Matthew's Gospel should be read in the context of Matthew's intended audience, a Jewish-Christian community. The Gospel alludes to the dangers and persecutions that this community has most likely already faced and will continue to face. To reassure this community, Matthew recalls for them the encouraging words of Jesus that we read today.

In this Gospel passage, Jesus might be understood as putting suffering in perspective. The disciples of Jesus are called upon to keep their focus on God. Those who can harm the body do not have ultimate power; God does. Still persecution and suffering can not be avoided or prevented. But Jesus reassures his disciples that God knows and cares about what happens to his children.

We might not face the same type of persecution, but we do experience difficulties as we endeavor to live a Christian life. Sometimes we let the opinions of others prevent us from doing what we know to be right. We need the reminder that what God thinks about us is more important. We are reassured by the promise that God cares for us and protects us.

Who is My Neighbor?

"Who is my neighbor?" speaks volumes to our relationship with and responsibility to unborn children. The Good Samaritan was prepared to take action at great cost to himself because he truly cared for his neighbor, whereas Christ condemns the religious leaders who passed by on the other side, without doing a thing. How many of us see and recognize the plight of the unwanted, unborn children, but are not doing a thing about it?

Since a willingness to take action and come to the aid of the dying and downtrodden is the Christ-given example of what it means to love our neighbor, then how can we live as good Christians if we are not do anything about the plight of dying, unborn children?

In Matthew 25:45, Jesus says, "To the extent that you did not take care of the least of these, you did not take care of Me." If unwanted, unborn children do not fit the bill as "the least of these" in today's America, it is difficult to know who does!

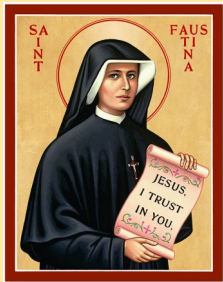

If Christians will not stand up with conviction (and love!) to boldly say of abortion, "This is terribly wrong!" then who in the whole world will? Martin Niemoller, a German pastor who was imprisoned for his opposition to Hitler, made this statement in 1946, "Christianity in Germany bears a greater responsibility before God for the Holocaust than the SS and the Gestapo." He said this because he recognized that believers are far more accountable than those without faith.

When history looks back on the massive bloodshed of abortion, could the same indictment be said of us?

From St. Faustina's Diary Cleanse Our Hearts

After some time, inner emptiness and dissatisfaction will come to (the soul's) attention. Oh, if only she would turn to Me then, I would help her to cleanse her heart, and I would fulfill everything in her soul; but without her knowledge and consent, I cannot be the Master of her heart (Diary, 1683).

Prayer Response

Lord Jesus, help us turn to You that You may cleanse our hearts. Lord Jesus, meek and humble of Heart, make our hearts like Yours. May we seek to be one heart with You in Holy Communion. .

Here Today - The Discalced Carmelite Saints St. Maravillas of Jesus 1891 - 1974-- Feast Day Nov 4th

"I commenced to pray, my arms extended towards heaven, with great impetuosity of fervor. My arms becoming fatigued from being thus uplifted, I let them fall; it seemed to me that someone raised them again towards heaven and an unknown voice said: "Is not yet time to stop, keep them raised towards heaven." And I remained thus until near daybreak. I felt then that what I asked had been granted. And really, it was so."
